

New Health Clinic Opens with Ribbon Cutting Ceremony

STAMFORD, CT (December 1, 2011) – On December 13th, St. Luke's LifeWorks will celebrate the official opening of The Clinic @ Woodland with a ribbon cutting ceremony featuring remarks from State Senator Carlo Leone, Director of Health and Social Services for the City of Stamford, Anne Fountain, Optimus CEO Ludwig Spinelli, and SLLW CEO Jason Shaplen.

St. Luke's LifeWorks has transformed space in the women's shelter on its Woodland Campus, located in the South End of Stamford, into a new health clinic complete with two examination rooms, waiting room, etc. The Clinic @ Woodland was built by SLLW's own maintenance team, saving tens of thousands of dollars. The clinic will be available to all St. Luke's LifeWorks' clients around Woodland Campus and to the local community. Optimus and St. Luke's LifeWorks will partner on joint intakes, joint management, and joint discharge plans, meaning that the medical, psychiatric, employment, and housing plans are integrated and reinforce one another. Optimus is looking to duplicate this innovative model at other sites.

"In short, two entities that would typically not talk to each other about clients are not only going to talk to each other, but will totally integrate their services, making the delivery of critical services seamless to the client," comments SLLW CEO, Jason Shaplen.

"The creation of this site will improve access to all, especially residents in nearby housing supported by St. Luke's LifeWorks. It truly is a way that non-profits with similar missions can work collaboratively on behalf of those we serve," says Optimus CEO, Ludwig Spinelli.
